Khabbar Follies

In this section, Khabbar looks into the Konkani community and anything and everything that is Konkani from a Konkani point of view. The names will never be published but geographic location will be identified in general terms.

There is no doubt in my mind that Khabbar is a part & parcel of life of Konkanis in North America. In fact, Khabbar has developed a special relation with most of the Konkani families and here are some examples of those close encounters of a different kind.....

Khabbar and its unofficial "Official" correspondents are doing a great job in bring out the "hoon khabbars" of the North American community on a regular basis. They truly believe that "If it did not appear in Khabbar, then it did not happen!" They really take pride in their position as area reporters and here are some of their "off the cuff" remarks during routine reporting ...

1. In particular, during last quarter's Khabbar publication, this Midwest representative was not ready with the news coverage to be sent to Khabbar in-time! Not to be undone, sends a brief message to me – "i was too busy cooking hoon turkey. had no time to check on the hoon khabbar. I will certainly send you an update on the new arrivals and some more Chicago news. Just give me a couple more days. Thanks for being so patient. Happy belated Thanksgiving!"

2. Another time, this same correspondent was kind of early with the news coverage of the area and sends them to me with a note – "You are getting a sneak peek into the Chicago Hoon gossip!"

3. This CT Correspondent had nothing to report this quarter, even then, sends this note, "Sorry, no reportable news from here .. We survived the Blizzard of 2005. Must be we are hibernating!"

EDITORIAL

Dear Konkani family,
I hope all is well with you and your family.

This issue of Khabbar has been mailed to ALL families that have paid dues at least once since 1998. In other words, families who have not paid since 1997 will not be receiving this issue and for families that have paid only in 1998, this will be the last time they will receive the hard copy of Khabbar. The numbers on the mailing label clearly indicate the year/s the dues for Khabbar has been received since 1998 and if there is any error let me know.

It is time to renew your subscription for 2005. The Advisory Committee of Khabbar is glad that the annual dues will remain the same at $15.00 a year and for that you get:

- Four issues of the Khabbar,
- Annual Mailing List and
- Discounted advertisement rates.

The on-line version of Khabbar, ekhabbar, will be on the web a quarter after the hard copies have been mailed. This issue has not been mailed to families that have specifically indicated that they will access ekhabbar.

The Khabbar Mailing List is a prized possession of our community and help me to keep it up-to-date. Send names and addresses of Konkani families that are not in the list to P. O. Box 222, Lake Jackson, TX 77566-0222, or email khabbar@hotmail.com and rest be assured that I'll "khabbarize" them!

Khabbar will publish all the developments and progress made by The North American Konkani Association (NAKA) on an on-going basis. The decision by Konkani Sammelan – 2004 to give all the surplus funds of over $50k has boosted NAKA's role in preserving our culture here in North America. This should help us all in combining all our resources to make it into a jawka organization. Send your constructive suggestions to any of the Directors.

The next big event for 2005 will be the AmCHigale Youth Convention - 2005 in Chicago. NAKA will join American Konkani Association (AKA) to make this an event to remember. I request all families to encourage eligible youngsters to attend this event.

Also, the preparations for the event of 2006 are taking shape on a grand scale. The KonCANi Sarmelan – 2006 in Toronto will be an event no Konkani in North America or in the world should miss! The various committees and their volunteers are already at work to prove that this will be worth your time and money. Visit their website (www.konkani2006.com) to find out more about this great event of 2006.

Based on the feedback of various Konkani families, Konkani Bhas Ani Sanskriti Pratistan, will be organizing a 22 day Summer Camp in Mangalore in 2005. Please make the best use of the program, if you can. Also, thanks to untiring efforts of Basti Ganapathi Shenoy, who has devised a method wherein families wanting to help Konkani Bhas Ani Sanskriti Pratistan can do so with relative ease! Please extend your help.

Congrats to Shyam Amladi on his first new book "Why Me!". All the best to you & your efforts.

The unofficial Khabbar correspondents in your area who send in the hoon khabbars on a regular basis are doing an outstanding job. If your area is not represented wholly, let me know and I'll recruit more volunteers. You send the news items via email (khabbar@hotmail.com).

On the Quiz front, Khabbar has still remained as an undefeated champion for a long time!

Khabbar will always publish appeals for charity free of charge but cannot collect money on behalf of any charity. Families are encouraged to send the money directly to the concerned charities. It is heartening to note that various Konkani organizations including NAKA contributed generously to the Tsunami disaster relief.

On the sad note, I must mention the passing away of one of the greatest Konkanis of our generation, T. Ramesh Pai. He was a great patron of Khabbar and will be missed

Happy Yugadi to you all.

Devu Boren Karo.

Dear Vasanth,

Here is this year's analysis of the 2005 Khabbar Mailing List dated 12-6-2004:

Of the 1,871 families in the list (it was 1,757 last year!), we have Konkans living in 44 states & DC (same as last year!). We do not have any Konkans living in Alaska, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming!!

Also, we have:

198 Kamat(h)
188 Shenoy, Shenai, Shanbh(o)ag(ue)
182 Pai
147 Nayak (Naik)
104 Prabhu
90 Rao (u)
73 Bhat(t)
39 Baliga
34 Kini
31 Mal(l)ya, Mallia, Mahale
25 Nadkarni(y)
19 Kudva
15 Bhandarkar, Bhandari(y)
14 Hegde
15 Acharya.
12 Kop(p)ikar
12 Hatt(i)angadi(y)
10 Amladi

The Kamat(h) families have maintained their lead. California still leads with 427 families (69 more than last year!) and San Jose, CA has the highest number of Konkani families living (66)! It was 59 last year!!

Keep up the great work.

*Ravindra Nayak,

Editor's Reply:

Thanks for your timely analysis. I am sure there are Konkans in those six states and hope someday, we'll discover them! Once again, I appeal to all families to send in the names of their friends and relatives who are not in the list to make this list complete.

Dear Editor,

I returned yesterday from visiting the Tsunami hit areas in South India. I had an opportunity to extensively interview and talk to several of the villagers affected by the disaster as well as many of the relief workers and relief agencies. I would be interested in sharing my findings with you and your readers. I can be reached by email cakymal@aol.com or by phone 734-604-6552.

EULOGY

From: Christine Futia, Morton Grove, IL, dated: January 26, 2004

Ramesh Pai made the world come closer together. Unlike many people, I didn't know him as a businessman, a humanitarian, or a Rotary big-shot. He was just my Daddy. It is an honor to be known as a daughter of his house.

I was only 16 when I went to live with Ramesh and Shanti in Manipal as a Rotary Exchange Student. Sometimes, I was terribly homesick. One day Daddy came home from a business trip and saw my long face. He said, in his commanding, voice, "Come, Baby! We'll go to Valley View (a local hotel) for dinner!" That night, he sat and happily watched me eat chicken noodle soup, finally satisfying my craving for non-vegetarian food. Of course, I learned to savor Mummy's delicious Konkani cooking in time, but at that moment, Daddy had sensed my deep need for comfort and found the perfect remedy.

In those days, Daddy was not often at home, and there were three other teenagers at home, Shantharam, Sudhakar and Sheela. Yet he gave me so much of his precious time. I appreciate this gift even more now that I'm a parent myself.

In later life, the most outstanding thing about Daddy was his incredible zest for life. Despite everything, he still had a twinkle in his eye. He loved telling jokes. He brought happiness into a room.

On one of my last visits to Manipal, just a few years ago, I heard a noise outside my window in the morning. I peeked out, only to see 76-year-old Daddy in teeny, tiny running shorts, with a pedometer clipped to his waist. He was getting his morning exercise. And, despite numerous serious health issues, he lived a long, active and productive life.

Of course, he didn't do this alone. When he was a tiny baby, his mother prayed to the Goddess at Ambalpaddy temple in Udupi, to save him from a terrible illness. When Mummy married him, she took over the responsibility for visiting the temple every week to request the Goddess's continued blessings on Daddy. In my mind, the Goddess saved Daddy twice in his life – once when he was a baby, and once when she gave him Mummy to look after him for the rest of his life. Think of him, so full of life as we all remember him, and you'll recognize what a wonderful job she did.

The world feels emptier today without my dear Daddy, a man who touched many people's lives, but especially mine. After welcoming me into his heart and home, he also welcomed my three children, who were adopted by our family after their birth and abandonment in Kolkata. Thanks to Daddy, these children, who have lost all linkage with their biological families, still have an Indian family to call their own. Their lives are blessed by his willingness to embrace them, as he once embraced me.

By: K. P. S. Kamath, M. D.
Psychiatrist in private practice in Cape Girardeau, MO

Chapter Ten:

An interview with a Bhakti Yogi

No sooner was Bhakta Kanaka Daasa on line than I heard a gentle voice ask, “Yaen magoo, hyagiddiya? (How are you, my child?)” With great reverence I said, “Adda bidde Swami. Dhanyanaade! (I fall at your feet, O sage. I am truly blessed!). “Just call me Daasa,” he said with humility and with a faint laughter. “Daasa means a servant. I am His daasa. I am a daasa of a daasa. In fact, I am the son of the housemaid (daasi) at the house of His daasa’s daasa!” (Dasa dasara maneya dasiyara maga naanu!) I was very touched by his extreme humility.

“Daasaji, some years ago, I heard a stirring Harikatha in Kannada about you rendered by Sant Bhadrageeracharya Achuta Daasa. I keep listening to this Harikatha now and then for inspiration. I have heard many other wise people say that you were one of the greatest practitioners of Bhakti Yoga as described by Gita. I would like to know what Bhakti Yoga is and how it can help stressed-out people.” Daasaji said, “Bhakti means devotion to a personal deity that leads to one’s salvation. Yoga, of course, means the single-minded effort in achieving this end. Absolute Faith in and Total Devotion to Him is the path of Bhakti Yoga.”

“Daasaji, did Bhakti (devotional worship) come to you naturally? Or, did you have to cultivate it?” Daasaji said, “I was born a Kuruba, a caste of shepherds, perhaps due to my past deeds. I came to acquire a lot of wealth and power in my younger days, and I was totally blinded by these worldly things. By sheer luck I discovered a few buried treasures of gold (kanaka). Using this wealth, I indulged in a lot of selfish activities; I waged wars; I amassed more wealth without regards to others’ welfare. My heart full of greed and my mind full of false pride, I built a magnificent temple for Adi Keshava at Kaginele, and pretended like I was a great Bhakta. Then, one day I lost everything due to conspiracy of people I trusted the most. In fact, I almost lost my life. It was then that I realized the futility and momentary nature of happiness based on attachment to materials. I went through a process of soul-searching, which led to Jnanodaya (dawning of Knowledge = I got in touch with my Buddhi). I decided to permanently cancel-out my Karma Account by renouncing everything and devoting the rest of my life to Kaginele Adi Keshava, my personal deity. Between then and till my material death at age ninety eight, I totally surrendered my life to Him in devotional service (9:34; 18:55, 18:66).”

“Daasaji, Gita says that Bhakti Yoga is superior to Karma Yoga and Jnana Yoga (6:47). Lord Krishna tells Arjuna repeatedly to devote himself to Him for his swift salvation (12:6,7). How do you feel about this?” Daasaji replied, “All Yogas ultimately lead to Him. Ordinary people like me may experience difficulty in understanding the Unmanifested form of God and in practicing Jnana Yoga to achieve Him. Some of us may not have boundless energy to selflessly serve people through Karma Yoga. What recourse do we simple folks have? People have to go on living their lives, doing business, raising families, indulging in sense activities. Does that mean they should be denied Self-realization? There must be a short cut for personal salvation. Bhakti Yoga is every man’s bread and butter for his personal salvation.”

Daasaji went on, “For ordinary people, a personal deity, Ishta Deva, as the earthly representative of Almighty God, is needed to focus their devotion on to, since most of them have difficulty in relating to abstract concepts of Atman, Brahman, etc. That way, they can perform daily devotional service to Him, dedicate their actions and thoughts to Him. I chose Lord Krishna in the form of Adi Keshava as my personal deity. Some others may choose Rama or Hanuman or Ganesha or any other deity.”

“Daasaji, does that mean devotional service to your chosen deity by itself is enough for salvation?” “No. Purity of thought (manasa), acts (karya) and of speech (vacha) is needed. We will also have to give up greed-driven activity and excessive attachment to people, money, power, etc. Make as much money as you want, but do so by good means, and do not take your wealth too seriously. Do not let it make you haughty. People who are immersed in Bhakti who are not pure in any of these also attain salvation as long as they are struggling to overcome their weaknesses.”

“Daasaji, I have read that when you came to Udupi for Lord Krishna’s darshan, you were not allowed into His temple by the priests because of your “low birth.” Legend goes that Lord Krishna was so moved (literally) by your unstinted devotion to Him that His statue turned around to your direction and opened a window in the wall between the two of you. What are your thoughts about this miracle?” Daasaji had a good laugh about this miracle. “I did not stay there long enough to verify this “miracle”. All I know is that when I was totally immersed in my keerthans in His praise, and was pining in my heart for His darshan, I saw a window open in my mind’s eye and I actually saw Him. And I experienced indescribable ecstasy in my consciousness. When that happened, I considered myself blessed, and I left. This must have been an eye opener for the priests who were busy “protecting Lord Krishna” from “polluted” people like me. Whether the wall collapsed to open a window is not important. The wall inside me collapsed and through a window in it the Lord gave me darshan. At that moment my Mind merged with my Atman/Him. The Lord loves all those who worship Him in devotion, adore Him and love Him, regardless of their body odor, color of their skin, caste, creed, religion, sex, ethnicity, race or the type of visa they hold. God is an Equal Opportunity Lover!”

I had a good laugh at this claim. I asked, "Daasaji, how can Bhakti Yoga help people who are stressed-out?" Daasaji had an answer for this too. "When I was immersed in material delusion, I too felt stressed-out all the time. Worrying about how to get rid of my enemies; protect my life and wealth; keep up with my title, my position, royal favor, etc., made me feel stressed-out all the time. I slept poorly; I was irritable; I yelled and screamed at the ones I loved; I was impossible to live with. Once I came out of this delusion by dedicating everything to Him, my worry went away. I said to myself, 'I will devote all my energies to Him. Whatever I do, whatever I have, whatever I lose, whatever I gain will be in His name from this time onwards (9:26-28).' Once I took this step, my stress disappeared.

"Daasaji, are activities such as visiting temples, going on pilgrimage to holy places, listening to Harikatha and Gita pravachana, and the like helpful?" "Absolutely! Such activities reinforce our efforts in keeping the focus on Him. In addition, volunteering for temple activities, performing pujas, vrithas, etc. are very soothing to your soul as long as these are done with purity of heart and total devotion, and without any selfish motive. However, when such activities are done for one's ego and false pride, or to get something in return, one would soon be stressed-out. Why? Look at all the petty politics, backbiting and other problems you see in our temples, churches, mosques and Gurudwaras. The devotees here have forgotten the real purpose of Bhakti; devotional service for Self-realization, not self-aggrandizement. Unfortunately a lot of people get bogged down by the religious rituals and forget spiritual enlightenment."

As I prepared to part with Bhakta Kanakadaasa I asked him, "Daasaji, do you have any quick fix for stressed-out people?" Without pausing for a moment he replied, "Have Absolute Faith in Him! Absolute Faith kills fear. Fear of losing this or losing that is at the root of all our stress in life. Those who have Absolute Faith in Him never fear anything, not even death. Lord Krishna said in Gita 18:66: "Abandon all *dharma*s and surrender unto Me. I will deliver you from all sins (stress); DO NOT GRIEVE!"

I thanked Bhakta Kanaka Daasa for his instruction on Bhakti Yoga and bid him goodbye. "Always keep Lord Krishna in your thoughts (Yaavagloo devara smaraNe madtha iru!)" he said, and left.

By now my hour had come to an end. As I was wondering where I would go from here, the Gentle Voice of The Gatekeeper came on again, "Well, Kamthi, did you get anything out of these interviews?" I said, "Absolutely, Mr. Gatekeeper! I have realized like never before that the Bhagavad Gita is nothing but a great guide on how to live a nobler life while we are on this earth." After I thanked The Gatekeeper for his kindness in arranging these interviews with three Mahatmas, I turned around to leave. To my surprise, the Gentle Voice came back on the intercom and asked, "You being a psychiatrist, have you figured out the differences between the stress management techniques of modern psychiatry and the those of the Gita?" I said, "Yes, of course!" To my consternation, the Gentle Voice said, "I will spare you twenty minutes to tell me what you think are the essential differences between these two dissimilar paths." Disbelieving my own ears, I started to give him my opinion.

PRATHAM: A SILVER BULLET TO BRING ABOUT EDUCATIONAL REFORM

Dr. Bhamy V. Shenoy

Since 1998, I have been involved in raising funds for Pratham in the US. I had only a theoretical comprehension of the great features of balawadi and balasakhi models like replicability, low cost and tri-partite partnership. However my recent experience of getting involved in the management of Pratham Mysore has given me an opportunity to appreciate and admire those features first hand. And from that experience I was able to learn how Pratham has the potential to bring about a revolutionary change in our centuries old outdated educational system and drive out the ghost of Macaulay.

Pratham Mysore started in May, 2002 thanks to the initiative of a small scale industrialist Mr. Ashvini Ranjan with his own funds. It was not a smooth ride from the beginning. He had to close the first few balawadis because of lack of community participation. The lesson learnt from that experience was very useful for the later expansion. At the end of the first year, there were 39 balawadis. By the end of second year it had increased to 100. For this academic year, it is planned to increase to 160. Even more impressive is the number of children assisted through Pratham Mysore during this academic year. Through greatly expanded programs of balawadi, balasakhi, bridge courses and read city, more than 10000 children will be assisted in 2005 versus 2600 in 2004. By any standard this makes Pratham a leading educational NGO in Mysore. That in turn will help in playing an active role in shaping the educational policy of the city.

Pratham is planning a summer school program for 5000 disadvantaged children. There are more than 15000 children attending government schools unable to read beyond a sentence. The program has four major components, which include teaching children to read Kannada in two months, teaching mathematics using an innovative technique developed by a retired scientist from the Bhaba Atomic Research Centre, teaching learning techniques using storytelling, reading reference books, and motivating children to ask questions; and teaching Basic English. During the summer period it is possible to make use of the library and lab facilities of the private schools which otherwise would not have been used. This concept of summer school of using the idle but rich resources of private schools is radical and new. In short, making learning an enjoyable exercise is the goal of the Summer School program

In line with the growth of Pratham Mysore, its budget needs have gone to $45000 from $4400 in 2003 and $19,000 in 2004. The cost to assist a child per year and work towards the Pratham mission of every child in school and learning well is only $12. Pratham Mysore has set up the goal of raising at least 10% of the budget from Mysore residents for 2005. As Mysore residents learn more about Pratham programs and start appreciating its contribution, it is expected that it should be possible to raise most of the needed funds from Mysore itself.

Through many innovative programs, Pratham Mysore has been able to achieve the involvement of community. The fancy dress competition brought out the creative ideas of the children and teachers. The longest greeting card of 350 feet constructed by 600 tiny tots welcoming 2004 was a big community event. Many teachers from the conservative Muslim community today are greeting the visitors to balawadis without burkhas and are stepping out of their houses to participate in monthly review meetings at Pratham head quarters located far from their place. This kind of women empowerment was not anticipated and unexpected benefit of Pratham. This has influenced Pratham Mysore to train more young girls than they need to become balawadi teachers.

The visit of Pratham ambassador Waheeda Rehman in March of this year to Mysore to inaugurate the Pratham Play Home (where children can play, read books and get exposed to computer) was covered by all the local papers and has generated interest in Pratham activities and attracted many volunteers. Today students from Mysore University and other leading colleges are working as interns with Pratham. Pratham is also serving as a platform to attract and train future NGO leaders to shape the educational policy of the city and the state. This perhaps may be one of its most significant contributions.

Pratham Mysore would not have been able to do all of the above but for the generous support given by Pratham Mumbai, which in turn is, the recipient of funding from Indo-Americans led by Vijay Goradia. Most if not all the readers of Khabbar are likely to support one or the other cause in India. They may consider recommending the Pratham model if they are involved in supporting the educational programs. Pratham has spread to more than 35 cities in India. Some khabbar readers may even be searching for that silver bullet which can bring about systemic changes, which are sustainable, replicable and can set up a chain reaction. Pratham model has all the potential of being such a silver bullet based on my experience of working with Pratham in Mysore. Those who are interested to know more about Pratham can visit www.Pratham.org or call me at 713-797-1147.

The last quarter's quiz: How far an "ideal" bouncing ball will travel before it comes to rest, dropped from 10 feet high, and on each rebounding exactly half its height?

The Answer:

Let H=initial height=10'. Then the first bounce will go to 1/2H, the second bounce to 1/4H, and so on. If you add together all the fractions, you get exactly 1H or 10' total for all the "up" bounces. But after each bounce up, the ball must fall the same distance, so add in another 10'. Finally, add in the 10 feet the ball before the first bounce, for a total of 30 feet.

The following gave the correct answers:

Vindya Bhat, New York, NY
Shivadev Ubhayakar, Rancho Pale Verdes, CA

Gayathri Baliga, Winston-Salem, NC
Bipin Pai, Munster, IN

What is the least-frequently used letter of the English alphabet?

NAKA, The North American Konkani Association

NAKA, once dormant since its inception after the successful completion of the first Konkani Sammelan in NJ in 1996, got a fresh lease of life in 2002 when the Houston Konkani Sammelan 2002 gave all its surplus to NAKA. Now, SammeLAN-2004 has decided to give all their Sammelan surplus to NAKA. Khabbar will make every effort to publish all the progress made by NAKA so that the North American community will be kept abreast of its activities.

On January 31st 2005, an on-line meeting was held with NAKA Board and the following course of actions were taken:

1. NAKA will provide $5k seed money to AmCHIGale Youth Convention – 2005.
2. NAKA will reimburse the registration fee after the successful completion of the AmCHIGale Youth Convention – 2005.
3. Added Ranjit Shiralkar & Sheila Shenoy to the Youth Board.

The NAKA Board now consists of:

HARIDASA KALYANA NIDHI

My Dear Devotees of Lord,

Blessings and good wishes in the Name of Lord Narayana!

It gives me great pleasure to inform you that the Akhila Karnataka Kirtana Kala Parishat has completed its 25 years of existence. We have thought of a beautiful program of conducting 100 Harikathas from 100 well known Haridasas to commemorate the Silver Jubilee. This program will start from 24th of Feb. and closes on 12th June 2005.

To mark the Silver Jubilee Celebrations, we have thought of creating a Corpus Fund of Rs. Twenty Five Lakh by name "HARIDASA KALYANA NIDHI". The main intention of creating such a Fund is to look after the welfare of the Old Haridasas, provide them with necessary medicines and care. Death relief Fund to enable the last rites to be conducted by their relatives. There are other demanding necessities to the Parishath such as Own Building for the Parishat as well as a good Reference Library etc.,

We have got great confidence in you that you will come forward to help us. You might have helped a number of Organisations but please remember Haridasas are uncared of the lot today. He contributes the best in him to the Society. Centuries old cultural values are carried on to the next generations by virtue of Katha Kirtan every day in India in all the States. When Katha Kirtankar stands to perform the Katha, he has forgotten everything personal but gave his best to the Society. Now the Parishat expects a little from the Society, a small contribution whatever felt best by the Donor, to the best of his capacity for the welfare measures to be taken up by us. Dear Friends, I know a few people whom I came in contact during my three visits to USA. There are number of people I could not meet and know of. May I request you to carry this message to them by forwarding email so that they can also participate in this great YAJNA.

Your contributions may be sent us individually by cheque or any Association can collect cheque on our behalf and send them to us. The cheque has to be written in the name of 'HARIDASA KALYANA NIDHI' and sent to The President, Akhila Karnataka Kirtana Kala Parishat, 27/1, D T Street, 8th Cross, near Maramma Temple, Malleswaram, Bangalore 560 003. or please send the cheque to Canara Bank, SB A/c. No.33729 Kodandaramapuram Branch, Bangalore-560 003 India and oblige.

A Darn Funny Book.....YYYEP!

SHYAM AMLADI'S NEW BOOK

WHY ME !
AND FURTHER OBSERVATIONS OF THE CONFUSED AMERICAN MALE
BY GARTH T. PENDLETON
NARRATED BY SHYAM AMLADI

A book on American humor---written by a Konkani, illustrated by an Englishman, designed by a German.....now THAT'S Globalization !!!

Read 25 rib-tickling episodes about the hero, Garth, an early middle-age American male in a perpetual middle-age crisis! Garth is part Ralph Kramden (Honeymooners) and part Homer (of the Simpsons). Bit of a goofball, a klutz, but with superb ability to look and laugh at the silly side of things, whether he is fighting with his wife or his daughter or the almighty Government or trying to follow instructions to assemble a bicycle he bought for his wife Nora (who, by the way is never confused about anything!).

Here is an excerpt from a chapter titled "The Culture Phenom" which shows in clear contrast what Garth's idea of culture is (versus Nora's). "...twice a year my wife Nora and I take what can be described as a Culture Trip. Into the womb of ancient cities like Venice, Athens, Karlovy Vary. Nora loves it, I detest it. My idea of a splendid vacation is where there is plenty of water, plenty of bikini-clad babes prancing around the pool and very dry martinis with luscious olives. This, to say the least, is as far removed from Nora's approved list as Accelerated Depreciation would be from Fidel Castro's..."
